

Created by a former trauma ICU nurse for healthcare professionals

Death Essentials

Skills you shouldn't learn on the floor

Join our transformative workshop to navigate the complexities of end-of-life care with grace and empathy.

- Discover the power of emotional intelligence at the bedside
- Explore the nuances between palliative care and hospice
- Master the art of meaningful end-of-life conversations
- Gain insight into the dying process
- Delve into grief and self-reflection
- Equip yourself with essential conversation techniques for profound connections

Reserve your spot now!

Delivered in-person and group-based
Morning snack and lunch provided

Omaha: March 8 • Lincoln: March 22
9 - 5pm • $170 per person

6.5
contact
hours

Erin provided a space to talk about the only certain thing in life: death. I use the workshop tools to cultivate reassurance for my residents and their families. Erin fosters light around death. These are long-lasting skills that I will carry throughout my career.

—Tara S., LPN

BEFORE THE CASKET

beforethecasket.com

This nursing continuing professional development activity was approved by the Midwest Multistate Division, an accredited approver by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation.